TORINO:
what to see, what to do and what to eat

Torino is rich in palaces and piazzas, great museums, fashionable boutiques, and glittering cafes and restaurants, enough to make this grand baroque jewel in the foothills of the Alps a top tourist destination. Crowned by the majesty of the Alps, the city is remarkable for the harmony of its various architectural styles and for the excellence of its museums! From Baroque to Art Nouveau and Modernism, Torino has an original 'ensemble'. From the National Museum of Cinema to the Egyptian Museum; from the Castello di Rivoli, a royal fortress of the Savoy family and today one of the most prestigious Museums of Contemporary Art in the world, to the Agnelli picture gallery originated from the private art collection of the Agnelli family.

Of exceptional historic, artistic and environmental interest are the Royal Residence of the Savoys which were declared World Heritage Sites by Unesco.

But Torino has also an enviable food and wine tradition. A gastronomic ambience, renowned for its delicacies, prestigious wines, the sweet glory of its chocolate and the aperitif, not only the famous Vermouth and Martini, but also the pleasant ritual, l'aperitivo, that keeps fascinating its visitors.

A trip to Torino is also synonymous with entertainment, music, shopping, emotions, mystery and curiosity which, together with a superb range of accommodation and restaurants and the current renaissance of art and urban architecture, makes Torino one of the most exciting and modern European cities and a must-see destination.

AND PIEDMONT

...a full immersion in country folklore and enogastro-nomic culture.

...embellished with delightful landscapes, evocative places and interesting meetings with artists and craftsmen, wine producers chefs, well-known industrialists, breeders and farmers.

...rich meals based on the most traditional rules of our tasty and natural seasonal cuisine, 'quenched' by excellent wines and widely illustrated by local experts explaining its historical and cultural origin.

...the culture of an area standing between the mountain and the sea is a great and unique opportunity to discover and taste the old flavours.
