

INTRODUCTION

Dear Friends,

It is our pleasure to invite you to join the International Masterclass on Proctology and Pelvic Floor Diseases (IMoPPD).

This innovative event will offer a platform for interactive discussion for all the different specialists that have an interest in the management of proctological and pelvic floor diseases.

The Masterclass will be characterized by lectures and oral presentations on the clinical-diagnostic approach and the treatment of these challenging topics.

Lot of time will be dedicated to educational videos and discussion with a panel of experts from all over the world.

The Faculty will be international, involving different cultures, and it will be composed from a group of senior experts together with a group of young experts belonging to the Young SICCR and Young ESCP.

The purpose is to induce all the participants to put their ideas into a wide discussion in which the approach to the same problem may vary from different countries and perspectives.

The Materclass will be held on June 13th-14th 2019 in Pisa which is in the heart of Tuscany, easily reachable by air and ground transportation. It offers some of the most beautiful sceneries in the world, along with museums, restaurants and a lively evening life.

We hope to see you in Pisa for this exciting new international event to enjoy the beauty of Tuscany and to have the chance to interact closely with the top leaders in these fields, embracing the innovative and interactive edge that IMoPPD offers!
